

Dear Wensum parents,

We are delighted to announce that the Bandwagon is back and taking new students! Due to the changes to our operation that Covid has brought about, any student wanting to try out the Bandwagon must first have parental consent for the precautions we have taken, and parents must read, understand and adhere to those precautions. You can give consent by following the link on the poster. Also, to reduce the risk further, we only want to give a free trial lesson to those students who are genuinely interested in learning an instrument on the Bandwagon. So if you know that this is something you won't be able to afford/commit to moving forward, then this opportunity is not for you. Equally we have given many free trial lessons at Wensum Jnr in the past, and students only get one free trial lesson to see if they like it. Therefore, if students in the past have enjoyed their free trial lesson and would like to join now, we will give you a special introductory 10% discount if you contact us by email quoting the subject 'Wensum Junior prior FTL 10%' (info@thebandwagon.uk).

It has been lovely to reconnect with the students and to continue to facilitate the kind of positivity that only music can bring. If lockdown has taught us anything, it's that the Bandwagon sessions are incredibly valued by our students and parents, and it is great to be able to offer this to the wider school cohort. Having said this, places are limited due to said Covid precautions, so book now to avoid disappointment.

I very much hope to see many new students 'jumping on' The Bandwagon in the coming weeks and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Many thanks, and all the very best, Adam Lawrence (Director, the Bandwagon Ltd).
